

PHILIPPI. The market place (agora), with a sixth-century church building (background). The Philippian church began in the first century with the conversion of the households of Lydia and the jailer (16:15, 33).