

ASSYRIA. Palace decoration. The combination of a man's face (intellect), the wings of an eagle (swiftness), and the body of a bull (strength) or lion (bravery) was common in the ancient world. Compare the four living creatures (4:7; see Is. 6; Ezek. 1; 10). [British Museum, London]

©Resource Publications, Searcy, AR, 2002, 2005. All rights reserved. Permission is granted for use in teaching and preaching.